When Davy Crockett was in Washington, he was one day in a hotel toasting his shins, when a Senator from Massachusetts entered. Approaching the old frontiersnian the latter said: "Crockett, a large body of your constituents are marching up the street; you ought to go out and greet them."

Crockett hurriedly arose and went out upon the hotel steps, when a drove of mules caught his eye. He quietly watched them until the last one had passed, and then returned to his seat by the stove. The Massachusetts Sena tor was still there, and as the redoubtable Davey dropped into his chair, asked : "Well, did you see your friends?"

"Oh, yes," was the response. "They are looking remarkably well, too."

"Did you ascertain their destination ?" "Certainly, sir." " And where are they going in such a solid

Crocket turned to the Senator with a quiet, calm expression, and replied "The blumed fools are all going down to Massachusetts to teach school,"
